SUPERSEDING INDICTMENT

S2 24 Cr. 676 (VEC)

COUNT ONE
(Conspiracy to Commit Sex Trafficking)

The Grand Jury charges:

OVERVIEW

1. For well over a decade and at all times relevant to this Indictment, ALON ALEXANDER, OREN ALEXANDER, and TAL ALEXANDER (collectively, the “ALEXANDER BROTHERS”), the defendants, worked together and with others known and unknown, to repeatedly and violently drug, sexually assault, and rape dozens of female victims. At times, the ALEXANDER BROTHERS arranged for these sexual assaults well in advance, using the promise of luxury experiences, travel, and accommodations to lure and entice female victims to locations where they were then forcibly raped or sexually assaulted, sometimes by multiple men, including one or more of the ALEXANDER BROTHERS. Other times, the ALEXANDER BROTHERS encountered and chose their victims by chance. Often, the ALEXANDER BROTHERS drugged their victims before assaulting them, preventing them from fighting back or escaping.

2. ALON ALEXANDER, OREN ALEXANDER, and TAL ALEXANDER, the defendants, worked together and with others to carry out and facilitate their sex trafficking scheme, including on some occasions by committing forcible rapes and sexual assaults together and with others, jointly arranging domestic and international travel and accommodations, and jointly financing the scheme.

BACKGROUND

3. ALON ALEXANDER, OREN ALEXANDER, and TAL ALEXANDER, the defendants, are brothers. ALON ALEXANDER and OREN ALEXANDER are twins and TAL ALEXANDER is approximately one year older. At all times relevant to this Indictment, OREN ALEXANDER and TAL ALEXANDER were real estate agents who focused on ultra-luxury markets in New York City, Miami, Florida, and other locations. Starting in at least in or about 2012, ALON ALEXANDER was an executive of a private security firm owned and operated by his family.

4. Starting in at least in or about 2009, ALON ALEXANDER, OREN ALEXANDER, and TAL ALEXANDER, the defendants, and others known and unknown, operated a long-running sex trafficking scheme, as part of which they raped and sexually assaulted female victims to whom they had provided material benefits, including domestic and international travel to vacation destinations, luxury accommodations at high-end hotels and vacation properties, and access to other luxury experiences and events. The ALEXANDER BROTHERS' scheme was based in, among other places, Manhattan, New York and Miami, Florida, where the defendants maintained residences and where their businesses were based.

5. To carry out and facilitate their sex trafficking scheme, ALON ALEXANDER, OREN ALEXANDER, and TAL ALEXANDER, the defendants, used deception, fraud, and coercion, to cause victims to travel with them or meet them in private locations. Thereafter, the ALEXANDER BROTHERS used various methods, including drugging the victims and, at times, physical force, to rape and sexually assault the victims—sometimes alone and sometimes together. In particular, the defendants used the following means and methods, among others, to carry out their sex trafficking scheme:

a. The ALEXANDER BROTHERS used their wealth and positions to create and facilitate opportunities to rape and sexually assault female victims. In particular, on multiple occasions, OREN ALEXANDER and TAL ALEXANDER used their prominent positions in the real estate industry to induce other women and girls to attend events and parties, and to meet other female victims at those events and parties, whom one or more of the defendants later sexually assaulted.

b. The ALEXANDER BROTHERS worked together and with other men to arrange events and domestic and international trips they used as bait to recruit, entice, harbor, transport, and maintain multiple female victims. During the events and trips, the defendants frequently raped and sexually assaulted the female victims they enticed to attend.

c. At times, the ALEXANDER BROTHERS used social connections or the guise of starting a relationship to lure and entice female victims to meet with one or more of them at a public place or group event, or to travel to meet one or more of the defendants. On multiple occasions, the defendants—alone or together—then sexually assaulted the female victims, sometimes within hours of their meeting. Immediately following the sexual assaults, the defendants sometimes offered the victims material items, including travel, concert tickets, and other luxury experiences.

d. Some trips and events were organized by the ALEXANDER BROTHERS well in advance and involved domestic and international travel. The ALEXANDER BROTHERS worked together and with others to recruit women and girls to attend these events and trips. The defendants, at times with others, shared photographs of women and girls to select those they found sufficiently attractive to invite. The defendants and other men organizing the trip then contacted the women and girls, including through social media or dating applications, and induced the women and girls to attend by, among other things, offering to purchase their flights, making other travel arrangements, and/or providing accommodations without charge.

e. In addition to inviting women and girls to their events directly, the ALEXANDER BROTHERS and others worked with party promoters to arrange for women and girls to attend events or travel with them, in order to ensure that there were a sufficient number of women and girls present.

f. On some occasions, after the women and girls accepted the invitations to attend a particular event, the ALEXANDER BROTHERS transported women and girls and caused women and girls to be transported across state and international lines. The defendants and other men attending the trips pooled financial resources in order to pay for flights and other travel expenses for the women and girls.

g. In advance of the events, the ALEXANDER BROTHERS and others procured drugs that they agreed to provide to the women and girls, including, among other things, cocaine, mushrooms, and GHB. On multiple occasions during these events and trips, the ALEXANDER BROTHERS and others surreptitiously drugged female victims' drinks. Some of the victims experienced symptoms of impaired physical and mental capacity, including limitations of movement and speech and incomplete memories of events.

h. The ALEXANDER BROTHERS, sometimes acting alone, sometimes with each other, and sometimes with other men, forcibly raped or sexually assaulted their victims. At times, the defendants physically restrained and held down their victims during the rapes and sexual assaults and ignored screams and explicit requests to stop.

6. The agreement between ALON ALEXANDER, OREN ALEXANDER, and TAL ALEXANDER, the defendants, encompassed numerous other acts of sexual violence in addition to sexual assaults during planned trips and events. On numerous occasions, the ALEXANDER BROTHERS drugged and raped or sexually assaulted female victims they encountered by chance, including women they met at bars and nightclubs, social events, and on dating applications. The ALEXANDER BROTHERS similarly carried out these rapes and sexual assaults by, among other things, drugging and incapacitating victims, taking victims to isolated locations, physically restraining victims while raping and sexually assaulting them alone, together, and with other men, and ignoring victims' explicit demands to stop.
